

Booger County Extreme 2007

General Information

The third annual Booger County Extreme adventure race will take racers through the beautiful and rugged terrain of Northwest Arkansas. The race will consist of mountain biking, trekking, caving, canoeing, and rope work.

The short course is approximately 35 miles, and the long course is approximately 60 miles. Both the short and long course have caving sections; however, the long course has an extensive caving section with some tight passages.

The race is sanctioned through the United States Adventure Racing Association (USARA) and sponsored by the Madison County Search and Rescue Team.

Teams will consist of three members. To receive USARA rankings, a team must be co-ed. All-female teams are eligible for BCE rankings and prizes. All-male teams are welcome to run but are not eligible for any prizes or rankings. Support teams are required for the long course, and are permitted but not necessary for the short course.
